

166 NOW READY FOR INSPECTION

13 Test Pits Have Been Completed According to Younkman

ROCK RETARDS WORK

There Also Appears to Be Fairly Heavy Strata of Shale in the Ditch

Thirteen test pits have been completed in sewer district 166 and are ready for the inspection of the committee of three engineers which begins Thursday. It was announced Tuesday by Water and Sewer Commissioner C. S. Younkman. Of this committee, Victor H. Cochran was selected by property owners in district 166, F. W. Freeborn by the city and the two decided on E. B. Black of Kansas City, member of the engineering firm of Black & Smith.

Black is expected to reach Tulsa Thursday in time for the inspection. Cochran has been in the east for several days attending to business matters and he also is to return before the inspection begins.

Three holes in the bottom of the 13 test pits completed thus far over the district, ten were dug in accordance with the specifications of Commissioner Younkman, and three were dug as desired by property owners who objected to Younkman's plan.

The ten pits were excavated to the same level as the sewer line, but six feet away from the original sewer ditch to insure perfect walls that will make classification easy for the engineers. With a ruler or tape line they may easily measure the thickness of rock, shale and earth within the ditch and the walls of the ditch as they were left after blasting.

The three pits dug as desired by property owners are the same size as the others but instead of paralleling the original ditch they were dug across that ditch down to the sewer line which is exposed to view at the bottom. One of these pits was dug in each of three adjoining blocks. They plainly show the width of the original ditch in addition to the classification of materials excavated, and also show the diameter of pipe laid.

Workers have been retarded somewhat by the great amount of rock encountered. Blasting has been necessary in virtually all of the pits. In some of them the rock is distinctly of a flinty character and could not be penetrated with ordinary picks. The large quantities of rock thrown out of the pits and piled in each side furnish ample evidence of difficulties encountered in excavating. There also appears to be a fairly heavy stratum of shale in most of the pits.

Some Are Satisfied Contrary to general belief, all property owners in district 166 were not in favor of an investigation. Without making a search, several residents were seen Wednesday who have taken no part in registering complaint against the city or the contractor. They said they were satisfied with the original measurements and with the contract price.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis, who live east of the paving on Admiral boulevard, characterized the cry for an investigation and the loud and continued complaint of some property owners and politicians as political propaganda. A number of her neighbors and friends believe likewise.

Mr. Lewis said his only complaint was that one of the test holes had been dug on their property without permission from Mr. Lewis or himself.

Whether more than these 13 test pits will be dug is to be decided after the engineers make their first inspection, and after property owners have had an opportunity to examine the pits for themselves and give an expression as to whether they are satisfied. Commissioner Younkman advised.

It is the simplest and yet the most practical tool known for this purpose. Is usually run in connection with an ordinary casing spear. Made from the best steel obtainable. Manufactured by us in all sizes.

How the Kiewer Works

Study the drawing to your right which shows the tool in operation. This shows the casing parted in the hole when an ordinary casing spear is used to take hold of the lower joints. The Kiewer Casing Hitch is then run and takes hold of the top of the rope socket and at the same time takes hold of the casing. The rope is then cut and the casing pulled out of the hole. This device has made many stripping jobs unnecessary and thereby saved large sums of money to the oil producers.
